

Brief Report

Promotion of linguistic diversity, cultural values, and national integration.

Increased participation of people in using simple and accessible language in daily life and public services.

Improved understanding of cleanliness, hygiene, and sanitation practices among participants.

Greater community involvement in maintaining clean surroundings and public places.

Reduction in littering and increased adoption of waste management practices.

Development of a sense of social responsibility and civic duty among students and citizens.

Contribution towards building a cleaner, healthier, and more inclusive society.

Conclusion:

The Jan Bhasha and Jan Swachhata Program successfully promoted language awareness, cultural unity, cleanliness, and community participation, leading to positive social and environmental change